Dear Neighbor,

Although it seems like just yesterday, the tenth anniversary of what some call, "The Little Park That Could" is right around the corner. Please join us to celebrate Splash Pad Park on October 20th.

Splash Pad has become the modern equivalent of a town square. Year in and year out, the Farmers Market it hosts is generally considered the best in the East Bay. Seven days a week, pedestrian traffic in the business district is at an all-time high. Storefronts that were once blighted and empty are now bustling with activity.

Splash Pad Park played a major role in this renaissance. Folks just like you saved the park from retail development and then convinced the city to help us build it anew. The projects may now differ but the principle is the same: bringing residents together to foster cleaner, safer and more livable neighborhoods.
